

Writing

This summer, give your child opportunities to write on a regular basis.

If your child enjoys journaling, you can staple together the blank lined pages to create a journal for your child to write in.

You can also make additional copies of the pages and staple them to create little books. You might take photographs of your child and glue one down on each page, so your child can write a story about him/herself. If your child needs a little inspiration to write, here are some prompts you can provide to him/her:

At the beginning of the summer: "What would you like to do this summer? Make a list of all the fun things you want to do."

After going on a vacation, special trip, or visit to a park/museum/library: "What did we do first on our trip? Next? Last? Write about what happened in the beginning, middle, and end of our trip."

"Imagine you can go anywhere in the world or outer space this summer! Where would you like to go? Why? What would you do there?"

"What is an animal you know a lot about? Write a book to teach me about what the animal looks like, what it eats, and where it lives."

The image shows a worksheet template with a decorative scalloped border. On the left side, there is a large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners, intended for a drawing or illustration. To the right of this box, there are four horizontal lines spanning the width of the page, providing space for writing. The entire page is enclosed within a decorative border consisting of a series of small, overlapping semi-circles.

The image shows a worksheet template with a decorative scalloped border. On the left side, there is a large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners, intended for a drawing or illustration. To the right of this box, there are four horizontal lines for writing. The entire page is enclosed within a decorative border consisting of a series of small, overlapping semi-circles.

A worksheet template with a decorative scalloped border. The page is divided into two main sections. On the left is a large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners, intended for a drawing or illustration. On the right side, there are five horizontal lines for writing, providing space for a story or description. The entire page is enclosed within a decorative border consisting of a series of small, connected semi-circles.

The image shows a worksheet template with a decorative scalloped border. On the left side, there is a large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners, intended for a drawing or illustration. To the right of this box, there are five horizontal lines for writing. The entire page is enclosed within a decorative border consisting of a series of small, connected semi-circles.

The image shows a worksheet template with a decorative scalloped border. On the left side, there is a large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners, intended for a drawing or illustration. To the right of this box, there are four horizontal lines spanning the width of the page, providing space for writing. The entire page is enclosed within a decorative border consisting of a series of small, connected semi-circles.